

Katelynne's Plan

for her Child Tax Credit payments

Katelynne lives in Cadillac, MI, with her two kids: 5-year-old daughter Dottlynn and 2-year-old son Zander.

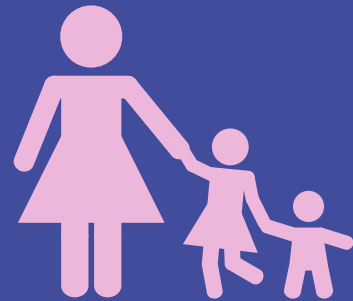

Throughout the pandemic, daycare has been hard to come by and difficult to afford.

Before she was laid off, Katelynne managed a smoothie shop. Now she's searching for customer service or management jobs. Her backup plan is to work at a factory.

Katelynne will receive $600 monthly until December 2021, and will get the remainder next tax season. Besides daycare, she'd like to use the money for transportation and to start her emergency fund.

"I feel like making the [expanded] Child Tax Credit permanent will help out a lot of people. By summer, most people have already depleted their tax refund."

Do you know what the advance Child Tax Credit means for your tax refund next year?

"Yeah, it means that my tax refund isn't gonna be as big, but I'm gonna get a portion of my refund for the rest of this year instead of waiting until next year."
